A few things came up re: briefings, I'll leave with you how to communicate to the business:

- When making a reference to specific wording/section of an Act, you need to have the specific wording in a footnote (if simple) or an appendix (if complicated)
- We should consider when providing "further advice" on a particular issue whether to replace the initial briefing rather than him having to cross reference between briefings – it caused a bit of confusion today.

Ngā mihi,
