Purpose

The Climate Change Commission is an independent Crown entity with advisory and monitoring functions. Its purpose is to provide expert advice to the New Zealand government on climate policy in relation to both emissions reduction and adapting to the effects of climate change in accordance with the Paris Agreement, which seeks to limit the global average temperature increase to 1.5 degrees Celsius above pre-industrial levels. The Commission’s advice will help the government to set targets, monitor progress towards goals, prepare policies and plans to reduce emissions, adapt to climate change and increase climate resilience.

In fulfilling this objective, the Commission’s priorities are to:

- advise on the appropriate level of New Zealand’s emissions budgets
- advise on the direction of policy required to meet emissions budgets
- monitor and review the Governments progress towards its mitigation and adaptation goals
- publish progress reports annually and carry out a review following the end of each budget period
- prepare the National Climate Change Risk Assessment (every 6 years)
- monitor and evaluate implementation of the National Adaptation Plan and prepare a report (every 2 years)

Role of the Climate Change Commission

The Commission will be made up of a Chair, Deputy Chair and five other members who will be the Commission’s board for the purposes of the Crown Entities Act. The Commission is expected to be a working board, in that a number of the roles may be responsible for the thought leadership across specific deliverables within the work programme of the Commission.

The Commissioners collectively must act consistently with their statutory mandate and objectives set out in the Statement of Intent (SOI). Commissioners must perform their functions efficiently and effectively and consistent with the spirit of service to the public.

Role of the Commissioner

The Commissioners will work alongside the Chair and Deputy Chair of the Climate Change Commission to provide governance and/or technical oversight for the Commission. Collectively, the Commissioners will provide guidance over the Commission's research, policy plans, advice, monitoring and reporting.

Key responsibilities will include:

- attending governance meetings;
- being responsible for fulfilling the Commission's functions set out in the Climate Change Response Act including presenting reports and advice to the Government;
- financial oversight and risk management, including ensuring that the Commission's financials are systematically accounted for, audited and publicly available;
- health, safety and legal obligations, including that all the legislative requirements of directors and entities are met;
- consulting and collaborating with a network of stakeholders, as well as involving cross-government networks to achieve the Commission's purpose.

The Commissioners are likely to hold post graduate qualification(s) across Science, Economics, Engineering, Business or other relevant disciplines. It is expected they will bring a credible reputation as a scientist and/or a distinguished record in an area of leadership relevant to the Commission including mātauranga Māori, Māori business and Māori economy.

This experience should include demonstrated success across the following:

- governance experience ideally as a non-executive board member;
- experience working in or with local and central government;
- experience across climate change mitigation and adaptation, this may include expertise across the environmental, ecological, social, economic and distributional impacts of climate change and/or climate change policy interventions such as emissions trading, land use and international climate policy;
- experience across a range of sectors and/or industries at regional and local levels. It is particularly desirable to have experience across one or more of the following energy, transport and infrastructure, agriculture, forestry, public health, waste or industrial processing, finance and insurance.

To compliment this experience, collectively the Commissioners should have relevant knowledge and skills across the following:

- strong understanding of te Tiriti o Waitangi and Te Ao Māori;
- knowledge of broad public and regulatory policy direction and the ability to apply technical knowledge into sound policy and operational advice;
- strong relationship skills with the ability to communicate, build relationships across local and international experts and coach senior specialists to deliver quality research outcomes;
- strong working knowledge of microeconomics including how markets work, the incentives to drive change across business and sectors, competition within sectors and a general understanding of behavioural economics.

The Commissioners will support the Chair in establishing the Commission's reputation as a high performing and independent adviser on behalf of New Zealand. Commissioners are expected to bring a number of personal attributes to the role including:

- collaborative team player with excellent interpersonal skills;
- able to operate with unquestionable ethics and integrity;
- sound judgement, with the capacity to provide independent and pragmatic advice to the responsible Ministers;
- the desire to embrace innovative, technologically advanced and collaborative approaches to problem-solving;
- a commitment to mitigating impacts of climate change.

Remuneration and Location

Remuneration is set by the Remuneration Authority. For more information on the setting of remuneration for independent statutory officers and boards by the Remuneration Authority, see:

- Remuneration Independent Officers and Boards
- Role of Remuneration Authority in Setting Remuneration for Individuals Appointed to Statutory Bodies and Other Positions

Actual and reasonable travel and other expenses incurred carrying out the role of the Commissioner may be paid in accordance with the Cabinet Fees Framework.

The Commission, and therefore the, role is located in Wellington. Regular travel may be required in order to consult widely however the Commission is expected to seek to minimise non-essential travel as much as possible.

Term of appointment

Under section 32(1)(b) of the Crown Entities Act 2004, a member of an independent Crown entity may be appointed for up to five years or any shorter period stated in the notice of appointment. Re-appointments may be made subject to satisfactory performance assessment and will be made at the discretion of the responsible Ministers.

The appointee may resign from office at any time by written notice to the responsible Minister. The appointment may be terminated under certain conditions. The Governor-General may remove members of the Commission prior to the expiry of their term from the Commission with "just cause", on the responsible Minister's advice after consultation with the Attorney-General.

The work of the Commissioners may commence prior to the Commission being established, with formal appointment likely to occur in December 2019 to coincide with the formation of the Commission.

Appointment considerations

In making appointments, the responsible Minister is guided by criteria set out in both the Crown Entities Act 2004 and the Climate Change Response \(Zero Carbon\) Amendment Bill section 5H.

Appointments to statutory boards are based on the values and ethos of public service. Members must be aware of the importance of personal integrity and the need to declare conflicts of interest, either potential or actual. Members must also be sure that they have the interest and enthusiasm needed to contribute effectively to the performance of the statutory entity throughout their term of membership.

Note that Cabinet has agreed that, as a general rule, public servants should not be appointed to statutory boards.

Under section 29 of the Crown Entities Act 2004, a responsible Minister:

- may only appoint a person who, in the responsible Minister's opinion, has the appropriate knowledge, skills, and experience to assist the statutory entity to achieve its objectives and perform its functions
- subject to the above, in making an appointment, must take into account the desirability of promoting diversity in the membership of Crown entities.

The following people are disqualified from being a Commissioner under Section 30 of the Crown Entities Act 2004:

- a person who is an undischarged bankrupt;
- a person who is prohibited from being a director or promoter of, or being concerned or taking part in the management of, an incorporated or unincorporated body under the Companies Act 1993, or the Securities Act 1978, or the Securities Markets Act 1988, or the Takeovers Act 1993 a person who is subject to a property order under the Protection of Personal and Property Rights Act 1988;
- a person who has been convicted of an offence punishable by imprisonment for a term of two years or more, or who has been sentenced to imprisonment for any other offence, unless that person has obtained a pardon, served the sentence, or otherwise suffered the penalty imposed on the person
- a Member of Parliament;
- a person disqualified under another Act.
