Organisation and Responsible Portfolio

Interim Ministerial Advisory Committee, Māori Climate Platform

Brief Outline of the Functions and Responsibilities of the Organisation

The Māori Climate Platform is being established to enable a Te Tiriti-led approach and support an equitable transition for Māori within the Crown's climate policy response. Phase one of the Māori Climate Platform is the design-phase, and will be guided by an interim Ministerial advisory committee. The interim committee will have two key roles:

- a collaborative leadership role, alongside the Ministry for the Environment, to design proposals for the Māori Climate Platform. The proposals will include mechanisms to embed Te Tiriti into the climate response and to allocate Crown funding for Māori climate action.
- an advisory role, providing independent advice to the Minister of Climate Change and the Climate Response Ministerial Group (CRMG). The Interim Committee may work with the Climate Change Chief Executives Board to reflect collective views where appropriate.
