To whom it may concern,

Powerco Transmission Services (PTS) is pleased to be working in collaboration with Aurecon and Energy Farms to develop transmission solutions for Energy Farms solar PV development projects in Opunake, Wellsford and Marton.

PTS is engaging in a Memorandum of Understanding with Aurecon to work cooperatively toward achieving common objectives regarding the connection to the Transpower network, including design for the protection components of connection, from the solar farm to the National Grid on behalf of Energy Farms and their concept for these solar developments.

PTS is energised by one of New Zealand's largest lines company, and has the capability and expertise to build, own, operate and maintain energy solutions with reliability and scale. We partner with progressive entities to develop, deliver and finance private network energy solutions.

For any further queries regarding our engagement with Energy Farms or Aurecon for this particular solar development, please do not hesitate to contact myself directly, and for more information on PTS and our capability, please see our website pts.energy.

Regards,
